Tilley Road and Grassdale Road safety improvements

We're making important changes to improve safety at the Tilley Road and Grassdale Road intersection at Gumdale.

Project overview

We're introducing improvements to enhance road user awareness when approaching the intersection and to create a safer, lower-speed environment.

Construction is scheduled to begin in December 2025 and is expected to take around four weeks, weather and site conditions permitting.

When will this work take place?

Most works will be carried out at night when traffic volumes are lowest. This will ensure everyone's safety and also reduce the overall time to complete the works.

Start	From early December 2025.
Finish	Late December 2025, weather and site conditions permitting.
Time/day	Night works 7pm to 5am, Sunday to Thursday.

Project features

The improvements will include installing tactile alert strips along 120 metres of Grassdale Road to give drivers an early warning as they approach the intersection.

We'll also add a 'Prepare to Stop' warning sign with dynamic flashing lights, which will activate when vehicles are detected on Grassdale Road.

To make the sign stand out even more, we're installing an extended kerb and upgrading the intersection with new LED street lighting.

Finally, we'll refresh the area with new line marking on Grassdale Road.

Why is this work happening?

Between 2018 and 2022, there were 7 crashes at this intersection, resulting in a mix of hospitalisations and minor injuries.

Four of the 7 crashes were a result of motorists on Grassdale Road failing to give way to motorists on Tilley Road.

These new features on Grassdale Road will alert road users they're approaching the intersection, improving safety for everyone.
